EnerGenie would like to inform customers of an issue with the 2-port USB-charger shown above, that has been sold in several different physical and online shops. This issue concerns items from a production batch that were sold from 31st of August 2016 until June 5th 2018.

Due to a production issue, in some products the electrical insulation of the power supply unit is found to be inadequate. The user could receive an electric shock from accessible metal parts.

If you have purchased this EnerGenie 2-port USB charger within the above period, please stop using the product and return the item back to the point of purchase. There you will receive a full refund of the purchase price.
